

Campaign bed

This bed was inspired by a military campaign bed made by the specialist maker Thomas Butler working in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth century. The cornice has been adapted and is made from brass which can either be left exposed showing its lovely form or fully upholstered to create an elegant enclosed space. Made from solid walnut.

All beds are made to order to the bespoke specification of the client. The bed shown is 5'6" wide. The price is for frame only, fabrics, divan and mattress are not included.
